The global problems facing humanity will not be solved by governments and traditional charities. It's up to us. Our business minds and skills will solve the world's problems with sweeping, long-term change based on sustainable business practices. Social entrepreneurship and organizations like Ashoka, the global association of the world's leading social entrepreneurs, are paving the way to a better world. Join us on November 18th to learn how.

Leadership for Business and Social Enterprise

Phipps Mansion (3400 Belcaro Drive, Denver)

7:30 a.m. – 9:00 a.m. (by invitation)

Featured speakers are First Lady Jeannie Ritter and Chris Lowney, author of Heroic Leadership: Best Practices from a 450-Year-Old Company that Changed the World. Special guest: Lisa Nitze, Vice President Ashoka.

Association for Corporate Growth (ACG) Lunch Program

Denver Athletic Club (1325 Glenarm Place, Denver)

11:00 a.m. - 1:15 p.m. — $35/ACG members; $50/nonmembers

Keynote, author Chris Lowney: Topic - 16th Century Lessons for 21st Century Leaders

Sponsor: Capital Investment Management

Chris Lowney is a one-time Jesuit seminarian who later served as a managing director of JP Morgan & Co. in Tokyo, Singapore, London, and New York over 17 years. Chris is the author of Heroic Leadership: Best Practices from a 450-Year-Old Company that Changed the World, which has been translated into 10 languages.

Lisa Nitze, VP Global Entrepreneur to Entrepreneur Program at Ashoka, will describe some of Ashoka's activities and impact around the world. (www.ashoka.org)

University of Denver

2:00 p.m. – 5:00 p.m. — All welcome: No charge

DU's program will showcase some of the best student Community Capital Projects. The students will set up poster displays and talk about their projects with visitors. The event will include a selection of the best first-year student, second-year student and Executive MBA student projects. A panel knowledgeable in social entrepreneurship will critique and build upon the student projects that are presented.

Regis University

John Francis Regis Chapel at Regis University (3333 Regis Blvd, Denver)

7:00 p.m. — All welcome: No charge

Sponsors: The John J. Sullivan Endowed Chair for Free Enterprise at Regis University and Ashoka: The Largest Association of Social Entrepreneurs

Chris Lowney, author of Heroic Leadership will speak on how the four leadership principles that were inspired by the Jesuits, can mold business leaders in the twenty-first century. Because Chris lived seven years as a Jesuit seminarian, before working for and eventually serving as managing director for JP Morgan & Co., he is able to talk about the challenges that test great companies today.
